

Hey trivia family! Here is your July monthly update from your account manager, Colin Sawyer, with Not Rocket Science Trivia!

1) Fourth of July

As previously stated in our June newsletter, here is our policy for Fourth of July Week: If you are a Thursday trivia location, we are assuming that you do not want to do trivia on July Fourth unless you have already told me that you do want to trivia. If you are a Thursday location who wishes to have trivia and have not informed me, please inform us ASAP.

For all other days of the week, we will proceed with trivia normally unless otherwise instructed.

2) Staff Vacations

Many of you have previously worked with either Alex (owner) or Zach (Director of Business Development) when you initially started working with us. They will both be out of town for periods of time during July. Alex will be out of the office July 1-7. Zach will be out of the office July 8-19.

I will be in the office and available the entire month. So, feel free to come to me with any questions or concerns!

3) Have thoughts on your host? Let us know by rating them here:

<https://www.notrocketsciencetrivia.com/client-portal>